Today's children are all set to turn into adult citizens of tomorrow. The development is parallel to the fate of the nation, reflected through the nature of the present education system. The best schools in Sharjah rouse interest in the young, porous minds and prepare them with tools to be better individuals.

It is broadly acknowledged that the learning procedure is instrumental in improving one's personality and the way the child handles circumstances in adult life. The move of ideas from bookish knowledge to learning of life, in schools, has brought forth an ocean of progress.

Individuals have gotten used to the thought of training is the way to a balanced development rather than only a means to get degrees and monetary success in life.

School education must put emphasis on accompanying aspects, which contribute tremendously to the advancement of young minds as they step into adulthood.

Mental Aspect
School is the leading fountain of knowledge children are introduced to. It gives an opportunity for them to get familiarity with distinct fields of education, for instance, people, history, literature, politics, mathematics and other varied subjects. This adds to development in the thought process.

Social Aspect

School is the major path of socialising for a child. With schools, children are presented not only to new thoughts but also to how people function in various types of social groups and their dynamics. This inculcates agreeable practices, for example, compassion, teamwork, friendship, help, which prove to be essential in their adulthood.

Physical Aspect

A child undergoes various physical development phases through his toddler, adolescent and teenage years. While home gives a limited outlet, in school, a kid can channelize his vitality into more friendly avenues. Studies have established that while in familiar conditions and surroundings, the child is prepared to manage abrupt bursts of vitality, and can also figure out how to be at his/her best behaviour just when introduced to a few children of the same age group.

Holistic Development

Till a few years ago, schools were more about different events in history, focussing on scientific issues or discussing and learning the languages. In the current educational scenario, a child is encouraged to go past the traditional way of repetition learning. He/she is educated to stimulate their minds and, through adaptable curriculum, interest is advanced. The child is liberated from the shackles of mental blocks as well as lets his/her creative ability run its course. The significance of creative ability is worried upon broadly. Play enactment and an inclusive curriculum results in a well-designed cognitive system.

Conclusion

Education shapes the foundation of any society. It is answerable for the financial, social and political development and growth of society, in general. The string of the development of society relies on the education quality that is being conferred. In this way, schools in Sharjah assume a critical role in shaping a country's future by encouraging holistic development of its future citizens.
